LOCAL AGENTS WANTED.

We desire to secure the services of a local agent in every Post-office District in the State. Will our friends act, or procure the services of some efficient person in our behalf? Believing that the circulation of the Democrat may be materially extended, we make this appeal to our friends in its behalf.

WE ARE AUTHORIZED TO ANNOUNCE THE HON. NAT. WOLFE AS A CANDIDATE FOR CONGRESS IN THIS DISTRICT AT THE ENSUING AUGUST ELECTION.

A correspondent of the Journal, who hails from Christian county, and subscribes himself "P.", needs some attention from us and other people. He begins by noticing two of our correspondents, and adds, "If he, the editor of the Democrat, will give their names, we will expose the hidious duplicity which lurks thereunder. The people of Kentucky will disregard it.

We quote the above extract from the letter of Mr. Bell, detailing the nomination of the radical convention, to which we give our hearty endorsement. Any restraint on an army acting in its legitimate efforts to crush the rebellion are tending to aid rebellion. In the advance of our armies is the sole mode of crushing armed rebellion.

We will not affix any explanation to this declaration. It is not from the association in which Mr. Bell is found. But we are bound to ask, if he considers the discipline and law which restrain an army from plunder and outrage a restraint? If so, then let the legislative departments of the Government shall not pass unconstitutional laws to be enforced, is restraining the army; if to require that negroes shall not be freed and armed be a restraint, the majority of the Northern States are a restraint.

We consider the present unconstitutional policy of the Administration the greatest possible restraint upon the progress of the army. We agree with every other party in the State that we have heard make any declarations that the Union never can be restored by the perseverance of that policy. We would, therefore, use all Constitutional means to bring about a change from those who do not seem disposed to acquiesce in the popular will. All candid readers will understand us as referring to a course through the ballot-box, and not through a resort to any illegal means whatever. The remedy by ballot may be slow, but it may ultimately prevail. The party which honored Mr. Bell with the nomination do not seem willing to make their acts accord with their declarations. It is possible that it is these to whom he refers when he says: "the thin veil of professed loyalty which hangs over it does not disguise the hideous deformity which lurks thereunder," since they declared that by the pursuance of that policy the Union never can be restored, and yet are willing in a contingency to aid in carrying out that policy.

It would be a strained interpretation when taken with the significant fact, that after having allowed his name to be used by the rebels, he has not yet given up the cause of the Union.

Having proposed so much, he proceeds to assume that it is even so, and goes on in bad English with his comments on the Democrats, the scope of which is even worse than the grumblers.

We don't care about abuse of ourselves, but we insist that it is done in respectable English. Only think of it. "How the editor have seen them," he says. It is too much to expect of a man to submit to such English as that. One thing ought to be noticed. Here is a man in Christian county who knows men who have given money to the rebels, who fire our boats on the Cumberland river, who are guilty of theft, robbery and murder. We command the subject to General Boyle or his State Marshal. Here's a man of information, according to his own showing, he deals in proofs; he proposes to prove things. He assures us he knows everybody in the county of Christian. Our opinion is, that General Boyle ought to have the use of him for a while.

He says we will never know a rebel from a Union man if we have to take proofs.

That is very true, and hence we don't know that he is a Union man. We would not trust him as far as we could see him. We suspect his honesty and his loyalty are a good deal alike. He proposes to prove two of our correspondents guilty of divers misdemeanors and crimes, although he doesn't know who they are, and rails on us if he had proved it so much for honesty.

Then this patr of has information that would convict men of giving active aid to rebels, as well as information that would convict others of being themselves rebels by overt acts. Has he given the military this information? We venture to guess that he has not, and, therefore, we think as little of his loyalty as do we of his candor and honesty. He is very ready to slander other people for party ends, which is a bad symptom. He, moreover, knows too much. He knows all about Christian county. He met all the most prominent old Democrats in court, and not one agreed with us. He knows too much entirely; sees too much precisely. We should be slow to trust a man so full of information.

This man's logic is no better than his candor and loyalty. We disapprove the late Convention at Frankfort, and also disapprove its dispersion by the military. Great change this, in the apprehension of this well-informed man. His capacity for discrimination is on a par with his honesty and loyalty.

But we must give, in his own words, an account, at which the editor of the Journal awoke, that he is the author of the Convention at Frankfort, and also disapprove its dispersion by the military. Great change this, in the apprehension of this well-informed man. His capacity for discrimination is on a par with his honesty and loyalty.

Jeffersonville Railroad Company.—An excellent financial condition of the Jeffersonville Railroad Company is shown by the twelfth annual report of the President and Directors, which is before us. The balance of the first mortgage bonds $45,000 it is expected, will be extinguished by the first of July next, and by the close of the year, the payment of all arrears of interest to the City of Louisville. Then will come "the creation of a Sinking Fund for the redemption of the second mortgage, with a fine prospect at an early day of a dividend payment to stockholders."

It is stated that the gross earnings for the quarter ending March 31, will reach within a fraction of one hundred and fifty thousand dollars. The surplus earnings for the year ending December 31, 1862, carried to account of profit and loss, were $207,976.45, which alone would have enabled the road, if it had been clear of debt, to have made a dividend on the stock of about twenty per cent. The stockholders can have no good cause for disengagement.

By reference to our columns it will be seen that, by order of Gen. Boyle, the order of Col. Moore, Provost Marshal, interfering with the laws of the State in requiring that fugitive slaves shall be allowed to pass through our borders, is rescinded. Hereafter these are to be put to work on the fortifications.

The wisdom of Gen. Boyle has never been shown in any matter more than in this instance. The order was so open a defiance of the law of the State that it was arousing a sentiment of the most dangerous kind in our midst. We trust this will be a check, and the slaves will receive it as some evidence that our State is still regarded by some officers as loyal, and as one which, after many sacrifices, is entitled to have her laws respected, and her people secured in every right, guaranteed to us all.

Or if this is not enough, hear what Henry Clay has to say of the party now in power:

With them, the rights of property are nothing; the deficiency of the powers of the General Government is nothing; the acknowledged and incontestable powers of the States are nothing; the destruction of the Union and the overthrow of the Government are nothing; the hope of the civilized world, nothing.

—An Irish girl and operative in Smith's mill, Lee, recently found five genuine $1,000 treasury notes in the paper rags, and another girl, in another mill, in another lot of rags, found a gold chain, valued at $60.

The Charleston Mercury says that a rebel naval officer is about to start with a vessel to meet the Alabama. Another will be ready on the first of May.

An Irishman who, two years ago, was an employee in a lard and lallow factory, went into a Philadelphia jewelry store the other day and purchased a set of diamonds "wid the ral sparkles," giving a check therefor of $7,900.

Patrick had followed the army, gathering the soap grease and disengaging the officers' bibles; and the jeweler learned, on presenting his check at the bank, that his name was good for four times the amount.

—A scot returned to Clarksville, Tennessee, from Berdan's Creek, Wednesday evening, bringing in three prisoners—a conscript, a discharged soldier, and an enthusiastic abettor of the Confederate cause.

The scot learned that Woodward, with his wife, was camped in the vicinity of Charlotte.

Colonel R. R. Ross, with his conscripts, was also reported in that section.

One of the principal leaders of the Southern cause, General Thomas, has been captured.

Total ..... 93

A SOLDIER SHOT AND KILLED BY THE GUARDS. A soldier was shot by the guard on Marshall street, last Saturday night, while attempting to escape from their custody. He received three balls, the third passing through his body, causing death in about twenty minutes. He was taken to Hospital No. 10. We were unable to learn his name.

OVER THE RIVER.—Two rebel deserters, J. H. Coggin and Robert Howe, both Kentuckians, were sent by Major Farris from Barracks No. 1 yesterday over the river, to remain out of Kentucky until the war is over, with the order not to return under penalty of death if they should.

SUDDEN DEATH.—A contraband from Tennessee, who had been taken out of the workhouse to work on the fortifications, sat down on the front steps of Mrs. Harris' residence, on Broadway street, on Saturday, and died instantly.

MISS JULIA DALY.—This accomplished comic actress had a very fine house last night. "Our Female American Cousin," with other attractive pieces, will be produced to-night. Go and see Miss Daly without fail.

A couple of gentlemen engaged in a little dispute at the Galt House had night to go to contract, during which pistols were about to be used. Neither were hurt.

THE SPEAKING AT NEW CASTLE.—On yesterday Hon. Nathaniel Wolfe addressed a large number of the citizens of Henry county, at the courthouse in Newcastle. The speech of Mr. W. is represented as marked by peculiar ability, and as having been listened to with the closest attention. We are promised a synopsis of it, which we shall lay before our readers.

Yesterday morning, about 9 o'clock, Mr. George Emory, of Ohio, rode his horse into the river at the Jeffersonville wharf, when he unfortunately stepped off the abu'ment, and Mr. E. was drowned within a few feet of the shore. The horse was saved. Mr. Emory, we believe, had something to do with Government horses. His brother was in search of the body, but had not recovered it up to noon yesterday.

Mrs. H. A. Hughes & Co. announced their name as a candidate in the county of Bullitt for a seat in the Legislature of Kentucky, in the election to be held on the 1st of November, and voted to disburse with Disunion or Abolition will attempt to record his vote for me, or in favor of my election.
